RURAL AGRICULTURE & ENTREPRENEURSHIP WORKSHOP

DATE: February 5 – 6, 2013

LOCATION: Alaska Gateway School District, Tok, Alaska

Alaska Gateway School District and local entrepreneurs welcome distinguished farmer and educator Nic Welty on February 5 -- 6, 2013. Nic will work with workshop participants to plan a greenhouse-based farming model that uses wood heat to extend the growing season. The workshop is designed to further enable food security for sustainable communities in rural Alaska.

The workshop will focus on intensive and sustainable growing techniques using hoophouses, soil production, high-profit business models, record keeping, and business management.

WANT TO PARTICIPATE? The meeting is open to the public, but pre-registration is requested. To register, please contact Wynne Auld, (907) 744-1085.
