I have read the 2015 State of Alaska, Seed Potato Certification handbook and I hereby voluntarily apply for inspection and agree to abide by all the certification standards in Alaska. I agree to sell as certified seed potatoes only those which have met all the requirements of the Alaska Seed Potato Certification Program. Seed potatoes for Home Use cannot be sold as seed. I understand that inaccurate information may be cause to deny certification. I understand incomplete applications and nonpayment of fees may be cause to reject applications. A minimum of $50 will be assessed if completed after the June 15 deadline. By applying for certification, I grant access to state inspectors or their designees to seed fields and seed storage facilities.

YES NO I would like my farm to be included in the Certified Seed Potato Directory.

YES NO Please include my farm in the voluntary 2015 leaf sampling program. The program will test Potato Virus Y (PVY) latent varieties for PVY, Potato Virus X (PVX) and Potato Leaf Roll Virus (PLRV). The following latent varieties are currently certified in the Alaska Seed Potato Certification Program and will be tested: CalWhite, Russet Norkotah, Shepody, French Fingerling and Rose Finn Apple.
