

PUBLIC NOTICE – POGO MINE
Renewal Application and Draft State Decisions

Pogo is an underground gold mine located on state land 38 miles northeast of Delta Junction, Alaska and 85 miles east-southeast of Fairbanks, Alaska. The project applicant, Sumitomo Metal Mining Pogo LLC, updated the mine's Plan of Operations and supporting documents for the current operation and requested the renewal of state authorizations.

On April 13, 2018 the State of Alaska is releasing application renewal documents for Pogo's existing mining operation and the following draft state decisions for a 32-day public review and comment period:

- Alaska Department of Natural Resources, Division of Mining, Land and Water, draft Plan of Operations Approval (F20189500). The Plan of Operations includes the Pogo Reclamation and Closure Plan and closure cost estimate.
- Alaska Department of Environmental Conservation, Division of Water, draft Waste Management Permit No. 2018DB0001 for the disposal of mine tailings, waste rock, and other mine-related wastes from the Pogo Mine.
