Historic Preservation Fund Certified Local Government Grants Catalog 1987-2015

Updated 6-08-2015

Alaska has thirteen local governments certified as historic preservation partners with state and federal programs. The state's historic preservation program is led by the Alaska Office of History and Archaeology. The program annually receives a grant from the federal Historic Preservation Fund to carry out the programs identified in the 1966 National Historic Preservation Act. Ten percent of Alaska's award is for Certified Local Government programs. The local governments apply for the funds which are competitive and must relate to priorities established by the state review board.
