Mining Pre-Application Checklist

PURPOSE OF CHECKLIST:

This Mining Pre-Application Checklist is intended to assist applicants in identifying potential state, federal, and local regulatory requirements for proposed mining projects. Coordination with the Office of Project Management and Permitting (OPMP) when advancing mining projects can optimize efficiency and transparency during the permitting process. However, for projects not directly working with OPMP, completion of the Mining Pre-Application Checklist can assist in planning.

BENEFITS OF COMPLETING A PRE-APPLICATION CHECKLIST:

This checklist will help applicants determine agencies involved and provide contact information for coordinating with other state and federal agencies. If the response to any of the questions below is “YES” or “UNCERTAIN”, it would be prudent to contact the appropriate agency for further instructions regarding your application. The agency contact information can be found on-line on the OPMP Mining Program Permit Dashboard. Each state permit application will have specific information requirements. Generally, having a project description or project proposal, and maps and plan drawings (at scales large enough to show details) will be needed. Mining operations require detailed assessments and technical evaluations. Technical reviews and subsequent decisions are made independently by each agency.

This pre-application packet contains numerous hyperlinks (underlined text that has a connection to an internet web page) and is best viewed on-line. Additional information is available on the Mining Program Permit Dashboard.

FEDERAL

In 1970, the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) was signed into law to promote efforts that prevent or eliminate damage to the environment (42 USC 4321- 4347). NEPA applies to all major federal actions, which includes awarding federal funds, or the issuance of an authorization that implements an action (ex. permit, right-of-way, etc.). NEPA requires that prior to funding, implementing an action, or issuing an authorization, federal agencies must consider the effects the proposed action may have on the environment and the related social and economic effects.

NEPA is a procedural law that is intended to assist the federal agency in their decision-making process. NEPA is typically referred to as an "umbrella" statute because it encourages agencies to incorporate other environmental requirements into one analysis for a streamlined decision-making process. To assist in this analysis please provide the following:
