Public Urged Not to Drive on Mat-Su Forest Roads During Break-up

(Palmer, AK) – The Mat-Su Area Forestry Office is asking the public to avoid driving on gravel forest roads in the Matanuska-Susitna region until May 23. This includes the Zero Lake, Willer-Kash, and Buffalo Mine Roads. These roads are extremely soft and muddy while the snow melts and the ground thaws during spring break-up.

Travel on the roads in these conditions can create deep ruts that can channel runoff and further degrade the road surface, causing costly repairs. An additional risk is that a vehicle could get stuck, creating an expensive recovery for the owner.

A little patience now will help prevent significant damage and further disruptions, ensuring continued access to the personal use firewood sites along these roads.
