General Information:

Afognak Island is a rugged and diverse natural destination. The park offers excellent opportunities for fishing, hunting, hiking and birdwatching. It's home to a wide variety of wildlife, including Kodiak Brown Bears and Roosevelt Elk, making it a prime spot for outdoor enthusiasts.

Afognak Island can be subject to severe and unpredictable weather. Poor weather can delay flights to and from the park so all visitors are encouraged to pack extra food and supplies in case they get weathered in. It is recommended to have at least one electronic communication device such as a satellite phone or portable satellite communication system.

Be prepared for bear encounters during any season. Use caution, avoid surprise encounters, and follow all bear safety etiquette. Do not leave any food items or trash outside of cabins. Discard all fish and animal entrails in ocean or deep fast-moving water.

Only dead and down wood can be used in woodstoves—cutting live trees is prohibited within the State Park.

Leave no trace, or better yet, better than you found it!

We want to keep Afognak Island a beautiful and wild place to visit.

Please pack out everything you pack in to the cabins.
